

Norman Waterhouse Lawyers

Leaders in planning and environmental law in SA

Norman Waterhouse Lawyers has again been named one of two First Tier firms in environmental and planning law in South Australia by the Doyle's Guide.

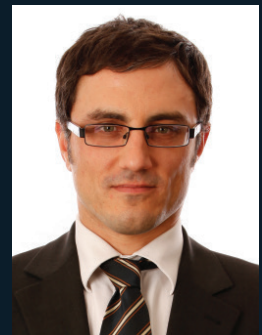

Two of the firm's Partners also made the 2014 list of Leading Planning and Environment Lawyers in South Australia. Gavin Leydon, Partner/Team Leader, was listed as one of the State's Preeminent practitioners in this field. Peter Psaltis, Partner, along with Paul Leadbeter, who works as a consultant for the team, were also listed as 'Recommended' by the 2014 Doyle's guide.

The Guide said that Norman Waterhouse 'extended its reach beyond its traditional planning strength into environmental matters.'

The Doyle's listing of Australia's best legal firms and lawyers is compiled annually on the back of extensive independent telephone and face to face interviews with clients, peers and relevant industry bodies. Firms are ranked First, Second or Third Tier or Recommended. First Tier firms have the highest number of recommendations.
